SESSIONS OF THE VIRGINIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

(NOTE.—Six Conferences were held in Virginia before the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States was organized, and five of them were held within the territory of the Virginia Annual Conference. But they were not, strictly speaking, Virginia Annual Conferences. Hence, these Conferences do not appear among the sessions enumerated below. The Annual Conferences proper number their sessions, respectively, from their first meeting after the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church as an independent ecclesiastical body, December, 1784. In conformity with this rule, the sessions of the Virginia Annual Conference are numbered from the meeting held at Mason's, Brunswick County, Virginia, May, 1785. Since then sessions thereof have been held in regular succession year after year, within the geographical limits assigned it by the General Conference of 1796, except as to the years 1791 and 1841, when changes in the time of the year of the meeting of the Conference made it necessary to hold two sessions in each of these calendar years, making one hundred and five sessions in one hundred and three years.)

APPENDIX II.—MEMOIRS.

REV. COLUMBUS S. WAMSLEY.

BY J. T. WHITLEY.

COLUMBUS S. WAMSLEY, son of Solomon and Elizabeth L. Wamsley, was born in Randolph county, Virginia, now a part of West Virginia, June 3, 1851, and departed this life at Beverly, W. Va., on Sunday evening, August 24, 1913.

His early religious training was under Methodist influence, and it is not surprising that he was converted at the early age of fifteen, under the ministry of Rev. J. H. Waugh, of the Baltimore Conference, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. As he showed a desire to be active and useful in the Master's service, he was appointed Sunday-school Superintendent at the remarkably early age of seventeen, and when he reached eighteen years he was made class-leader, continuing in that position of spiritual usefulness until he entered the Gospel ministry.

Having been licensed to preach in 1878, he was admitted on trial into the traveling connection by the Western Virginia Conference in September, 1879, and was appointed by Bishop Doggett to the Glenville circuit. In 1880 he was transferred to the Pleasant Ridge circuit. He was ordained Deacon in 1881. In 1882 he was sent to Elizabeth circuit; in 1883 he was ordained Elder, and sent to Prestonburg and Pikeville; in 1885, to Jacksonville; in 1886, to St. George; and in 1887, to Meadowville. Then he took a transfer to the Virginia Conference, and was appointed in 1888 to West Goochland mission. Thence in 1889 he went to Greene circuit; in 1890, to West Amherst; in 1891, to West Hanover; in 1893, to Heathsville; and in 1894, to Orange circuit.

In 1896, on account of impaired health, he was given the superannuate relation, which he held as long as he lived. After his superannuation he lived for some time at Ashland, Va., then removed to Basic City, where he resided four years, and then removed to West Virginia, which was his home the remainder of his life. During these years of retirement from the pastorate, however, he was by no means idle. In addition to such pursuits of a secular character as he found it necessary to follow for a maintenance, he was frequent in rendering pulpit service as opportunity offered. The pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the community where Brother Wamsley spent his latter days writes me that he preached in the churches all through that region, assisted in revival services, supplied the pulpit of a disabled pastor for a while, and that his sermons were "full of spirit and power and very effective in results." This minister adds that Brother Wamsley "was admired and loved by all the Christians of our town—was loyal to his own Church to the last, and his loss is deeply felt." His son, Prof. J. E. Wamsley, of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., adds this filial testimony: "The last few months of his life were especially fruitful in his spiritual life; my mother and his neighbors have often told me of the force and fervor of his preaching in that last period." This gifted son speaks also of "the simple dignity and the devoted Christian service that has made his life an ideal for me." Such testimony from those who knew and loved him best is eloquent and inspiring.

Brother Wamsley was a diligent student, an earnest worker, a faithful messenger of God in the pulpit, an example of godly living in the midst of his people; and now that he rests from his labors his works do follow him. Many hearts will tenderly and gratefully cherish his memory.

About two years before his death he fell from a fruit tree, and sustained injuries that confined him to his bed for several months; but he is said to have entirely recovered from this affliction. He had been in unusually good health for several months, and had preached on Sunday before his death. The following Friday he was taken ill with some acute stomach trouble that defied satisfactory diagnosis, and passed away on Sunday evening. His remains were buried on the following Wednesday morning at Mingo, W. Va.

Brother Wamsley is survived by his faithful wife, whose maiden name was Hattie See Stalnaker, and with whom he was united in marriage in November, 1870; also by the only child of this union, Prof. James Elliott Wamsley, of Winthrop College, S. C. Sister Wamsley's health is sadly shattered, and the sympathies of her husband's comrades in the Virginia Conference go out to her and to the son in their sore bereavement. It is regretted that the members of this Conference did not hear of Brother Wamsley's death in time to pay fitting tribute to his memory at our last annual session. Though dwelling far from him for years before his decease, we hope to greet him among the glad throng that await us in that "land of pure delight, where saints immortal reign."

REV. WILLIAM EMORY EDWARDS, JR.

BY J. SIDNEY PETERS.

WILLIAM EMORY EDWARDS was born in Norfolk, Va., August 6, 1876, died at Toano, Va., December 1, 1913, and his mortal remains rest with his fathers in Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond. He was the son of the late Rev. Wm. E. Edwards, D.D., and Harriet Anne Watts, and grandson of the late Rev. Jno. E. Edwards, D.D.—father and grandfather, deceased, members of this Conference, distinguished for their cultured, eloquent and pious ministrations. When the subject of this memoir ceased to labor and to live, the voice of the House of Edwards, that had "prophesied" in our pulpits for nearly four-score years, was still. With such an inheritance our brother entered the itinerant ministry. Family lore, ecclesiastical and literary associations, and ideal Christian home-training, conspired together to give the church and the world a man of exceptional mental, social and spiritual parts.

He was only three years old when he was called to preach. A sister gives the following account: "It was on a Sabbath evening when with the other children we were playing church. An older brother preached a terrible sermon on Jonah and the results of disobedience to the Lord. Suddenly, to our amazement William began to cry, and the more we tried to pacify him the louder he cried until our parents came and inquired of the trouble. To every question he answered, 'No, I don't hurt,' and then finally he sobbed, 'Go, tell the Lord I am going to preach.'" He desired immediately to join the church, but his prudent father advised fuller consideration, until at eight years of age or thereabouts he felt he could restrain him no longer, and admitted him to membership in the Centenary Methodist Church, Richmond, Va., the church to which the father, as a lad, had himself been admitted by his father.

From this early decision to preach he never wavered, although he rarely mentioned it except to members of his own family—not even at sixteen years of age when he entered Randolph-Macon College. His studious life at college and his frail health provoked four years of nervous prostration, but upon recovery he applied for and received a local preacher's license from the Lynchburg District Conference, Rev. Paul Whitehead, D.D., presiding, at Bedford City, July 31, 1902; and in November of that year he was received on trial into the Virginia Conference. He was sent to East Hampton charge, where he served three years acceptably and constructively. During these years he paid for one church—East Hampton—built and paid for another—Riverview—and bought another—(Upper) Fox Hill. The membership was doubled, and a charge left where he began with nothing but opportunity, and that not a great one. During this pastorate, at the Conference at Lynchburg in 1904, he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson. In 1905 he was stationed at Crozet, where he labored successfully two years, largely increasing the membership of the church. At the Conference session of 1907, held at Petersburg, he was ordained Elder by Bishop Chas. B. Galloway. At this Conference he was stationed at Fifth-Street Church, Manchester, and here he projected the splendid building—one of the very best from economic and serviceable view-points—now known as Decatur-Street Church. The Sunday-school section of this church was built during his pastorate, but before the building was completed, on account of his impaired health it became necessary, in the hope of restoring his depleted strength, to give him lighter work; so in November, 1908, he was assigned to Culpeper station. Here his health completely failed, and at the 1909 session of the Conference he reluctantly asked for superannuation. In this relation, although never for a day able to work, the necessity of providing for his family constrained him to undertake secular employment, to which he addressed himself with heroic determination, but often the frail body interfered.

On August 3, 1909, he was happily married to Miss Irma Russell Browning, of Culpeper, Va., a beautiful and devoted young woman, who loyally and affectionately shared his many discouragements and tenderly nursed him in his physical infirmities. On July 4, 1910, their home was brightened by the advent of their only child, Russell Browning. Wife and child survive him, with his mother, the relict of the late Rev. W. E. Edwards, D.D., two brothers, two sisters, a half-brother, and a half-sister, Miss Ida M. Edwards, of Dunn, N. C.

Seven years of itinerant work mark the activities of his ministerial career, and they were busy years. He added to, built up and strengthened his charges. How he planned and constructed so much supplementary to his pulpit and pastoral work will never be known, for during all these seven years he contended with consuming disease and an exceptionally weak constitution. He entered the itinerancy after four years of nervous prostration, and after about a year of service was attacked by a violent and protracted spell of typhoid fever; three times he went on the operating table under the surgeon's knife, and was never perhaps entirely free from pain. In the midst of all this, and despite it, he wrought well. His spirit never flagged even when his tired body was exhausted. During his early ministry the writer was closely associated with him at Hampton. We boarded and roomed together, and often at night I wondered if that weak heart of his (hardly perceptible at the pulse) would last until morning. If he had gone, I would not at any time have been surprised, and yet he struggled and labored on. No one but himself and God ever knew the nervous strain, the extreme weakness and the physical pain he endured during these years, nor what he had to overcome in himself, before his tender ministrations, pulpit efforts, pastoral cares and church enterprises began for others.

His advanced education was pursued at Randolph-Macon College, where he developed a love of books and a discriminating mind which served him admirably in his literary work and pulpit efforts. His mind was of the highest order, enabling him to think accurately and clearly and to sustain remarkable concentration. He was much more poetic in his temperament than logical, although he was never illogical. He delighted himself in spare moments in the company of the English poets, and often expressed the melody of his heart and the devotion of his soul in rapturous figures of speech and balanced verse. His soul delighted in groves and trees and birds and flowers; and in the quiet of shady nooks beside murmuring waters and singing birds he seemed to be in perfect harmony with Nature and in delightful communion with Nature's God.

His preaching was rarely doctrinal, but practical and evangelical. The sermon was always prepared in homiletical order, and ornate with simple but classical illustrations all interspersed with striking epigrams and decorated with an imagination of rare power and compass. Throughout every discourse breathed his ardent devotional spirit, until his discriminating and sympathetic hearers were almost lifted out of themselves. One would be struck with amazement after viewing his small, frail body, with his youthful appearance in the pulpit, to hear the resonant fullness of his matchless voice. His delivery was not didactic, though his subject matter was always instructive; not oratorical, though he never failed to compel attention; but earnest and at times fiery and always fluent. His manner plainly showed his own conviction of the truth of the sublime verities in which he dealt. Saints were edified, sinners were convicted and converted.

His own personal bereavements and physical afflictions peculiarly fitted him in his pastoral work to succor others who were in distress or pain; and tenderly, affectionately, sympathetically he went in and out among the sorrowing and sick to their comfort, encouragement and joy. Ofttimes I have known him "in feebleness extreme" to drag his tired body to see others, when in all reason and religion they should have ministered to him; but like his Lord "he came not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

In the social circle he was the charming centre and "observed of all observers" on account of his quaint, refined humor and brilliant conversation. Yet with the dry and garrulous he could upon occasion be both quiet and attentive, patient and long suffering, without complaint. From earliest childhood he was an obedient and dutiful son and an innocent affectionate brother, was never known to evade the truth nor to utter an unchaste expression. In manhood he maintained a brave loyalty to exact truth and exquisite chastity both of speech and thought, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." A faithful and devoted husband, a discreet and affectionate father, he filled a well-rounded manhood in all of the relations of life. He was a man whose friendship was to be courted, for never had one a friend more loyal and sympathetic, more courageous and unselfish than he. He was entirely unconventional in the pulpit and out of it, and thus became approachable and enticing to young and old. His character, pure as a lily, was entirely transparent. There were no concealments, or hidden motives. His stainless soul was naked and open to all with whom he had to do. He was so unconventional himself and so practical and so genuine, that he abhorred cant and the phylacteries; nothing provoked him, but cant disgusted him.

His charity literally covered "all things." He always found some mitigation for the offenses of others, even when they offended against him. And the obvious sins of other people grieved him, but never moved him to harsh criticism of them. This charitable spirit was very evident in the last years of life—years in which to the unequal contest for strength and the struggle for bread was added the sadness of feeling that many who should have been his companions and friends utterly misunderstood, misjudged and neglected him. He was lonely. He was sick. He was nervous. But none of these feelings caused the slightest resentment. In some instances he sustained the grossest injustice, but no uncharitable word escaped his lips, although he frequently expressed his sorrow for all who were blighted by such a spirit and often prayed that they might be delivered. Their treatment of him was ignored, but his consideration of them was vast. I have not known a man of whom it might have been so truly predicated: 'He suffereth long and is kind, envieth not, vaunteth not himself, is not puffed up, doth not behave himself unseemly, seeketh not his own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth, beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.'

His religious experience of his Heavenly Father's providential care and love for him was clear and unfailing, and his answering love was childlike and intense. He never questioned any of the circumstances appointed him in life. They were all right. Not even the frail body, the multiplied bodily afflictions, the sustained pain, the shattered nerves, the struggle for existence, the early interruption of his work, the indifference of friends, ever strained his faith in God, or disturbed his delightful and constant communion with his Father, or dampened the ardor of his intense affection for Him. This believing and devotional spirit permeated everything he wrote; all of his sermons, all of his conversations, and all of his thoughts. Truly he "walked with God," and on the first day of last December, without premonition, he turned to his devoted wife, with only a little moan at the idea of separation from her and other loved ones, and "was not, for God took him."

REV. RICHARD D. SMART, A.B., D.D.

BY W. E. JUDKINS.

RICHARD DAVIS SMART was born in Beaufort county, South Carolina, on the 17th of September, 1846, and died in Charlottesville, Va., on the 4th of January, 1914. He obtained his academic education at Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., and afterwards took a three-years course in the Presbyterian Seminary, at Columbia, in his native State, as the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at that time had no theological school.

He was admitted on trial into the traveling connection by the South Carolina Conference in 1870. Three years he served in circuit work, two years he served in the Presiding Eldership, and the rest of his active life he spent as a station preacher. Having served four years in Charleston, S. C., he was transferred to the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Little Rock, Ark., where he spent three years. From there he was sent to the First Church, Memphis, Tenn., which he served four years. Then he was transferred to the St. Louis Conference, and stationed at Cook Avenue Church (now known as Scruggs Memorial), in the city of St. Louis, where he served four years. Then, in obedience to the mandate of the Bishops, he transferred his labors to the Virginia Conference, where in the fall of 1902 he became the pastor of Epworth Church, in the city of Norfolk. After a successful pastorate with this church, continuing the full term of four years, he was stationed at First Church, Charlottesville, Va., where he was very popular and abundantly useful. At the end of his second year at Charlottesville, in response to an urgent call from Bishop Hendrix, he was transferred by Bishop Wilson to the Louisville Conference, and stationed at Broadway Church, in the city of Louisville. Having served this church two years, he was taken ill and fell in the pulpit after finishing his evening sermon on Sunday, October 30, 1910. Soon afterwards he was removed to Charlottesville, Va., for scientific medical treatment and pure mountain air; and having been transferred to the Virginia Conference, he was placed at his own request upon the supernumerary list.

After resting a year he returned to the effective list, applied for work, and was stationed at Boynton, Va., for one year. He then yielded to the persuasions of his sons, who saw that his desire to work was greater than his ability to stand the strain, and retired once more to the list of supernumeraries. After spending some months in visiting relatives in South Carolina and elsewhere, he returned to Charlottesville, June 20, 1913, where he resided until death. His remains were conveyed to Greenwood, S. C., and buried in the cemetery there beside the bodies of his two little daughters who died in 1883.

In March, 1873, he was married to Miss Julia I. Evans, of Charleston, S. C. Of this marriage there was one daughter, who is now Mrs. R. E. Wait, of Little Rock, Ark. On the 20th of June, 1876, he was happily married to Miss Ella Gaillard, daughter of Congressman Wyatt Aiken, of South Carolina. Of this marriage there were seven children. Two of the daughters died; the other children are living. One of the sons, Rev. Richard D. Smart, Jr., is now assistant pastor of the Methodist Church, in Wusih, China, and also a professor in the Suchow University, at Suchow. Another son, Rev. Wyatt Aiken Smart, B. D., is Professor of Biblical Theology in the Theological Faculty of the Southern Methodist University, Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Frank P. Smart, a third son, is a successful practitioner of medicine in the city of Norfolk, Va. The fourth son, Henry Gaillard, resides in San Francisco, Cal. The younger daughter, Miss Ella, is with her mother as companion and comforter.

Of our departed friend and brother, Doctor Smart, let it be said with emphasis, that though he served the Church in six different Conferences, he never interfered with an appointment, nor asked a favor of the appointing powers. He was always loyal to his church in the matter of appointing her pastors, as in other respects. When consulted at times about his appointments, he declined to express any wishes, leaving it entirely to the Bishops as to where he should serve. In the South Carolina Conference, where he began his ministry, he was called "the Peace Maker." How many souls he led to Christ and Heaven, the Future alone will disclose.

REV. EDWARD M. JORDAN.

BY W. T. GREEN.

EDWARD MARCELLUS JORDAN was the son of John Parker and Zaritha M. Jordan, and was born in the State of Illinois on the 31st day of January, 1841. While he was but a lad his parents moved to North Carolina and settled in Perquimans county. Here he had such educational advantages as the community afforded, and afterwards was a student at Randolph-Macon College. During the War between the States he was a soldier in the Confederate Army. He was twice wounded and lay a sufferer in the hospital at the time the battle of Gettysburg was being fought. After the war he made his home in Gates county, North Carolina.

Though he had come to mature manhood, and his life was outwardly moral, he had taken no decided step towards a religious life until 1867, when in a meeting held at Fletcher's Chapel during the month of August, under the ministry of Rev. W. E. Allen, he was happily converted. The turning of his mind to the subject of religion at that time was due in large measure to the influence over him of a very godly woman, his aunt, Mrs. A. J. Walton, who for her piety, her strong Christian character, and her activity in the church, was known throughout the entire circuit.

Brother Jordan at once allied himself with the people of God and began to do work in the church, and found increased pleasure in the service he was able to render under the direction of his pastor.

It was not very long before he had seriously to consider what he believed to be a call of God to the work of the ministry. Within the space of two years he had fully decided that the call was of God, and that he could not maintain his proper relation with God without devoting his life to the preaching of the Gospel of his Son. In 1869, on Gates circuit, with Rev. M. S. Colonna, preacher-in-charge, and Rev. Henry B. Cowles, Presiding Elder, he was licensed to preach. At Richmond, Va., in November of that same year, with eight others he was received into the Virginia Conference on trial. Brother Jordan was never of robust health, and through a large part of his ministry he labored in much feebleness of body. He was advised by his physician to discontinue the work of the ministry, and that he could only live a short while. He made the plea that, if he had so short a while to live, he craved to spend a part of that time in telling of his Saviour to men. The first year of his ministry was spent on Northumberland circuit. He then served the Berlin circuit two years, and was sent next to Orange circuit, where he spent three years. On these charges he had revivals and additions to the church.

While on the Orange circuit in 1874 he was married to Miss Mattie Walker, who became not only a devoted wife but a help-meet indeed. His next charge was Culpeper circuit, and from there he was sent to South Norfolk circuit and remained two years. He next spent four years on Norfolk circuit, and then four on Hertford circuit, North Carolina. From this charge he was sent to the North Gates circuit and remained four years. He was then stationed at Elizabeth City, where he served three years. When he had completed his third year on this last-named charge, he found his health so impaired that he was compelled to retire from the active work. With much confidence in the helpful resources of his devoted wife, he moved to Ashland, Va., where they found educational advantages for their children, and where they both rendered helpful service to a number of young men who were students at the College, some of whom are now members of the Virginia Conference.

At the end of a period of seven years, having improved in health, he felt that he must enter again the active work, and at the Conference of that year held in Petersburg, Va., he was put in charge of Hanover circuit. After this he served Whaleyville and Somerton charge two years, and from there went to Onley circuit, on which he remained four years. He next served Cambridge circuit, from there he went to Cheriton, and then to Crittenden, where he spent the last two years of his active ministry.

During his last few years of active work his strength greatly failed. His oldest daughter, Mrs. Dr. Will Kellam, had insisted that he retire from active work and spend his remaining days with her in her comfortable home, at Onley, in Accomac county, Virginia. In the Autumn of 1911, convinced that his active work was finished, with his devoted companion of forty years he moved to the home of his daughter. Here he enjoyed also a sweet fellowship with members of his old charge, and spent much time in reading, as was his custom through many years. While his strength gradually failed he was possessed of the same happy state of mind and heart. As the body wasted he grew in faith, in love, in devotion to his Lord, and in readiness for that day when, as he knew, his Lord would come and take him to a home of rest and reward. After two years of patient waiting he realized that the end was not far away. Death had no terror for him. His unflinching faith in God and his promises seemed all sufficient. He knew that his end would be peace and his rest sure. Within the Bible from which he had read more even than usual during the last few months of his life, was found by this writer a slip of paper on which were written by him D. L. Moody's last words: "Earth recedes.

Heaven opens. God is calling me. This is my triumph. This is my Coronation Day." He had been confined to his room for about three months, but not to his bed all the while. After giving his wife some advice concerning her future plans and committing her and the children to the tender care of his Lord, his mind seemed fixed on things beyond the sphere from which he knew he would soon go. When on Wednesday morning, the 25th of February, the light of day had fully come and the darkness of the night had gone, he quietly "fell on sleep." He had asked that no eulogy be spoken over his body, and suggested that a brief service at the grave would be sufficient. At mid-day on Friday, the 27th, assisted by one of his close personal friends, Rev. W. T. Williams, and Rev. R. T. Clarke, pastor at Onley, in the cemetery at Onancock, Va., we laid his body to rest.

"There sweet be thy rest, till He bid thee arise,
To hail Him with triumph descending the skies."

As a preacher Edward M. Jordan excelled. His style was simple and attractive. His delivery was forceful. He saw truth clearly and presented it in well chosen speech. He was a reader of good books and loved the best literature. His preaching commanded the thought and attention of his hearers. Had he possessed the full use of his organs of speech, unhampered by a throat affection that produced a cough, he would have ranked as a great preacher. His sermons showed the mastery of his subject and the rich unfolding of truth. He made clear his statements by the application of truth, and confirmed his arguments out of his own experience. He knew Christ and loved to preach Him. He was not without evangelistic gifts and loved revival work. Many were converted under his ministry. His public prayers stirred the congregation; few men have been so gifted in prayer. He prayed much in secret. As a friend he was affable, genial and confiding. He loved his brethren of the ministry and rejoiced in their success. A mutual friend writing to me of him said: "I knew him thirty-five years. He was a beautiful character, but there was no mere veneering. He was sympathetic and generous, but not ostentatious. He was diplomatic, but open and sincere. He was devoted to God and His work, but not pharisaical nor puritanical. He was physically weak, but a good strong preacher—at times eloquent. His sermons were well thought out, but not heavy. His pulpit prayers were original, spiritual and gracious. A man of God and of men, he served his generation well and still serves it."

Our dear brother has gone from us. We shall miss him, but we shall see him again. Not on the earth; we shall find him in his Father's House.

REV. CHARLES E. HOBDAY.

BY J. C. REED.

CHARLES EDWARD HOBDAY, son of Joseph and Mary A. White Hobday, was born in Portsmouth, Va., March 1, 1844, and died in Mathews county, Virginia, April 16, 1914. He was converted at an early age, and joined old Dinwiddie Street Church (now Monumental), under the ministry of Rev. Charles H. Davis. His parents moved to Mathews county in December, 1856. He did not take a certificate of church membership with him, and neglecting his church privileges he went back to the world.

He entered the army of the Confederate States at the age of seventeen and served in the Fifth Virginia cavalry. He was twice taken prisoner; once he captured his captor and took him with him into camp; once he was sent to Fort Delaware, where he endured with fortitude the hardships of prison life. He did not surrender at Appomattox, and was paroled sometime after the close of the war.

After his return from the army he was thoroughly reclaimed by a sound conversion in a great revival at Old Providence Church, Mathews county, in September, 1865. He at once joined the church and was put to work. For two years he resisted his call to the ministry, but at last yielded, saying, "Here am I, send me." He was licensed to preach September 13, 1867, and was admitted on trial the same year at the session of the Virginia Conference held in Petersburg, Bishop David S. Doggett, presiding. He was appointed in 1867 to Bertie circuit, North Carolina, as junior under Rev. Jeremiah McMullan. In 1868 he was sent to Northampton circuit, North Carolina, with Rev. William Grant as his assistant. During this year great revivals blessed his labors, resulting in 169 conversions and 139 additions to the church. He served thereafter the following charges: Goochland 1869-'70; Caroline 1871; Indian Ridge (now Currituck, N. C.) 1872-'73; Chuckatuck 1874 to 1877; South Norfolk 1878-'79; Northampton, N. C., 1880 to 1882; Chuckatuck (again) 1883 to 1886; Eastville 1887 to 1890; Southampton 1891; Batesville 1892-'93; York 1894 to 1896; Brunswick 1897 to 1899; Gloucester Point 1900-1902; King George 1903 to 1906; West Lancaster 1907 to 1909; and Middlesex 1910 to 1912. This is a record of forty-six years of unbroken service as an itinerant preacher, filled with earnest, consecrated labor for the salvation of souls and the upbuilding of the church. He was no place seeker. He accepted his appointments as coming from God, and heartily endeavored to do the Master's work with an eye single to His glory.

In 1868 he married Miss Lavinia Green, who died fifteen months after marriage, leaving an infant daughter who soon followed her mother to the grave. On the eighth of June, 1871, while pastor of the Goochland circuit, he was most happily married to Miss Flora Adelia Lewis, who with her son, Paul A. Hobday, survives him to mourn their irreparable loss.

Plain, simple, strong and useful, describe the man and his work. He was straightforward in all he did; you always knew where to find him. He claimed no man as his master. He was his own man. He despised shams. He loved the true and the good. He wrote and spoke what he believed to be the truth, regardless of what others might say or think. He said: "I have tried to do my duty; I have not hesitated to say what I thought." As a man and a pastor he was greatly beloved. He was genial and sympathetic and had a keen sense of humor. His presence brightened and blessed the home he entered, and made glad the hearts of both young and old. He loved the young, and they were strongly attached to him. As a preacher he was clear and strong. He used no untempered mortar. He spoke the truth in love, but he always spoke the truth. His voice was clear, sympathetic and pleasing. His preaching edified saints, and brought sinners to repentance and salvation. He was a true evangelist, and God blessed his ministry to the salvation of many souls.

My acquaintance with Brother Hobday began in 1868, when I was admitted on trial into the Virginia Conference. In 1869 we were thrown closely together, being on adjacent circuits. An intimate friendship then began which strengthened through all the intervening years. We had much in common. We were Confederate soldiers and comrades; members of the same Conference, and soldiers of the Cross; the bond of affection and friendship was sweet and strong. We loved, trusted and confided in each other. His heart was of pure gold. In his growing affliction of deafness he leaned upon me as his friend, to be ears for him. He was deeply interested in all the proceedings of his Conference. He could be seen, ever near the front, oftentimes kneeling at the chancel, with elbow on the rail, and with hand to his ear, so anxious was he to hear. To me as his friend he would come at the close of the session and say, "Tell me what was said and done; I cannot hear." What a pleasure to give him the desired information! To-day his ears are open to hear the music of angelic choirs, and the Master's "Well done!"

It was my privilege twice to be his Presiding Elder, and to enjoy frequently his hospitality. His home life was beautiful. He was a very considerate, tender and affectionate husband and father. His hospitality was unostentatious, but so sincere and genuine, in which he was graciously and well assisted by his noble wife.

To superannuate was to him a great hardship. He received that relation on his own motion. His charge was willing to receive him again, his friends urged him not to retire; but he said: "I cannot hear; I cannot do my work; I must retire." To his quiet, modest home, in Mathews county on the East river he retired, and began work on his farm. On the morning of April 16th he came in from his work and said to his wife, using his affectionate appellation for her: "Baby, I cannot finish the work." He sat down in a chair with his head resting on his wife's bosom, and in a few moments his gentle, pure spirit was with God. His work on earth was finished, and he had entered into eternal rest.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

REV. LEROY WILLIAM GUYER.

BY G. H. LAMBETH.

LEROY WILLIAM GUYER was born in Richmond, Va., August 31, 1862. He was converted in boyhood, and united with Union Station Church, where he immediately became active in Christian work. Early in life he entered business, continuing until he had risen to the position of manager of one of the large tobacco factories of his native city. But in the development of his religious experience he became conscious of a call to preach, and as a local preacher rendered successful service for several years. Having been received on trial into the Virginia Conference in 1901, his first appointment was to West Street Church, Petersburg. After this he served successively and successfully Owens Memorial, Portsmouth; Ettrick, Petersburg; Owens Memorial, again; Chatham circuit; Cabell Street, Danville; and Madison Heights, Lynchburg. In the second year of his pastorate at this last charge he laid aside his armor and entered into rest.

Brother Guyer was three times married; in 1882, to Miss Faudree, of Richmond; in 1889, to Miss Annie Louise Myers, of New Kent county; and in 1909, to Miss Elizabeth Christian Watson, of Chatham. He is survived by his widow and by six children of the second marriage.

The disease which terminated fatally May 16, 1914, first seized him during the latter part of his pastorate at Cabell Street. At that time his health declined to such an extent that his friends feared he might be forced to seek a superannuate relation, but after some months of skillful medical treatment he was sufficiently restored to accept another appointment. But he was never a well man afterwards. For about two years he attempted in suffering and weakness to do his work, but finally succumbed to the encroachments of Bright's Disease until his worn-out body refused to respond to the spur of his indomitable will, and surrounded by his loved ones, he passed peacefully away.

Life's labor done, as sinks the clay,
Light from its load the spirit flies,
While heaven and earth combine to say,
"How blest the righteous when he dies!"

The funeral services were held in the Madison Heights Church, and were conducted by his Presiding Elder, Rev. W. H. Edwards, D. D. Rev. J. N. Latham, D. D., delivered the discourse, a beautiful and tender tribute to the deceased, based upon Acts 11:24, "For he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith; and much people was added unto the Lord." The body was taken to Chatham for interment. Here Doctor Edwards, assisted by Rev. L. D. Stables, in the midst of a large gathering of friends and former parishioners, committed the body to the ground, to await the resurrection morn. By the side of his daughter, Grace, who had preceded him to the grave by about a year, our fallen comrade sleeps in Jesus: a "blessed sleep, from which none ever wakes to weep."

Brother Guyer was a man of splendid physique. Like king Saul, he stood head and shoulders above his brethren. His physical strength promised years of activity and usefulness. Not one of us supposed that we should so soon be called on to thus memorialize Leroy Guyer. But perhaps his realization of superior strength is partially responsible for his early decease. He never spared himself, but gave himself so unremittingly to his work, with no apparent fatigue or thought of physical decline, that it is possible in this way inroads were made upon his constitution that finally resulted in his death. So, trading upon supposed unlimited physical resources, he gave himself no opportunity to renew the supply of strength that had been exhausted in the constant expenditure of physical and nervous energy involved in his work, until he faced sudden and serious collapse. Even then he refused to apply the brake longer than was absolutely necessary. In his condition men of less heroic type would have sought relief from the exacting and wearing duties of the pastorate. Not so with him. As soon as partial recovery made service possible, he again devoted himself to the activities involved in his mission, and dragged his weak and tired body the round of his daily task. He seemed to have caught the inspiration of the spirit and example of the Apostle to the Gentiles: "Neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry which I have received of the Lord Jesus." For months before his death he attempted to do his work, despite the suffering and weakness imposed by an incurable disease. For some time failing eyesight prevented his reading, but he memorized the service, that his ministry might not be interrupted. For two months before the end he persisted in doing his pastoral work, though he was then too weak to fulfill his pulpit ministrations. The passion of a high vocation had seized the soul of this man; and, staggering and stumbling under the burden, his dauntless spirit compelled his wasted body to serve the purposes of his devotion, until from sheer exhaustion he fell on the field, and nature paid the penalty of the infraction of physical law. But he left us all the thrilling example of a great consecration, and his heroic devotion to the Master's work will live long in our memories, though his own body could not long survive the strain. Michelangelo used to say as the chips fell from the marble on the floor of his studio, "While the marble wastes the image grows." While the strength of our brother was drained by the demands of his indomitable spirit, the high quality of that spirit was more richly revealed in the self-sacrificing nature of his service. It was like the Master he loved, that he should think of his work rather than of himself. In this example he leaves his brethren of the Conference a rich legacy.

"But they whose lives are pure, whose hearts are high;
Those shining spirits by the world untamed,
May at the end unshamed
Look on their days gone by."

In his youth our friend was deprived of such educational advantages as he wished for. The Civil War left the financial resources of the family in a depleted condition; so, with an unselfishness that characterized him in every circumstance and relation of life, he relinquished his cherished ambitions, and, contenting himself with preparation for a business career, entered the realm of commerce, that he might immediately become self-supporting, and might contribute according to his ability to the family exchequer. When, in later years, he responded to the divine call to preach, and gave himself to the work of the ministry, he found his hands full and his time taken up with constant attention to the calls of the pastorate, and with the pressing problems of church management. He clearly discerned the need of practical ministry in the charges he served, and could not begrudge the time he might have given to studious seclusion, to activity in the care of his membership, and to the promotion of the many important causes involved in a successful pastorate. He was constantly busy tugging at the load his conscience compelled him to pull. So heavy was this load, so long and hard the road, that frequently the day ended with the goal unreached, and the lengthening shadows of the evening found him weary with the work. Nevertheless, he did not neglect the development of his mind, nor the preparation necessary to make him an effective preacher of the Word. He was by nature endowed with an oratorical temperament and equipped with talents that gave him power in the pulpit. A commanding presence and a sonorous voice were his. His soul glowed with passionate earnestness, and an invincible faith in the verities of the gospel clothed his utterance with convincing power. Back of the spoken word was an evident and profound sympathy with the needs and longings of those to whom he spoke; and a genuine care for souls added a tenderness and a pathos to his discourses that gave him at times an almost irresistible influence with his audience. Those to whom he spoke were quick to discern, what every audience is sure to detect, that he who spoke was moved only by the desire to bring them into saving relations with the Christ, and to establish between them and the Source of life such connection as would make them the beneficiaries of God's sufficient and unfailing grace. While his sermons, then, were not marked by the manifestation of scholarly attainments or profound reasoning, they were helpful and inspiring because the triumphant faith of the preacher had levied upon the principles and promises of the eternal Gospel, and a discriminating mind had presented such truths as were of practical value in a world of temptation and constant need.

Perhaps his most conspicuous power as a preacher lay in his evangelistic gifts. All his preaching was permeated with the evangelistic spirit, and all his pastorates were marked by evangelistic success. He was much in demand in the conduct of revival meetings, and hundreds of souls have been brought through his instrumentality to a saving knowledge of Christ.

In the pastorate he was much beloved. His great body held a great heart. He was a friend of men, and gave himself, his strength, his sympathy, in full measure to the service of the community in which he lived. Men told him their troubles because they found in him a brother; women confided in him because they trusted him; little children loved him because he loved them. He was to them all "Brother Guyer," and they levied upon what resources of help he had, because he revealed to them a spirit of brotherliness which gave assurance that his joy was great in sharing with those in need the treasures of his great heart and the strength of his great body. He served nowhere that his friends are not legion. In St. Paul's Cathedral, London, I read the famous tablet erected to the memory of "Chinese Gordon." With no violence to the truth, I think we may substitute for the name of Sir Charles Gordon the name of Leroy Guyer, and the inscription thereon would be justified: "To the memory of Leroy Guyer, who always and everywhere gave his sympathy to the suffering, his substance to the needy, his hand to the helpless, and his heart to God."

Among us, his comrades in the Conference, he was highly esteemed and loved. His sunny smile, his cheery greeting, his readiness to respond to the call for help, the genuineness and strength of his friendship, the absence of egotism and all unworthy self-seeking, compelled admiration and affection from those among whom he moved and whom he so much loved. I knew him well. In all the years I knew him I never heard him speak unkindly of a brother, nor have I heard a brother speak unkindly of him. If there is one among us all, between whom and Leroy Guyer there existed any restraint, any interruption of friendly relations, I do not know it. We meet today to pay our tribute of affectionate regard to the memory of one whom we all loved. It is not a perfunctory service. In our hearts we remember his worth, and with our lips we recite his virtues, because he was to us all a comrade in Christ—a friend who never failed us in the faith of the gospel, or in the practical expression of the fraternal spirit.

"Forgive our grief for one removed,
Thy creature whom we found so fair;
We trust he lives in Thee, and there,
We find him worthier to be loved."

Into the sacred precincts of the domestic circle we may not obtrude. Behind the closed door of the home we know not what occurred. The memories there are too sacred to be placed upon public parade; too deep and tender is the affection to court display. It must suffice in this hour to quote, and only to quote without comment, the words of one who writes in her grief and loneliness, from an experience sweet and intimate: "He was the kindest, most indulgent father; the gentlest and tenderest husband."

We must bring this imperfect sketch of the life and character of our friend to a close.

"No farther seek his merits to disclose,
Or draw his frailties from their dread abode,
(There they alike in trembling hope repose)
The bosom of his Father and his God."

On the crest of a hill, in the quiet city of the dead at Chatham, where the sun shines warm upon his grave, and overhead in the branches of the great oaks the birds sing their songs of gladness and of trust, the body of our brother lies. He faced the last enemy with a courage and a complacency born of triumphant faith in Christ. The worst that Death could do to him was to thrust the sword into the warrior's body and liberate a conqueror's soul. The shell of him lies sleeping beneath the sod, the spirit of him, emancipated and unfettered, wings its flight out into the land of all our dreams and all our hopes, the blessed land where life and love and liberty abide forever hard by the throne of the Eternal King.

"I think of death as some delightful journey
That I shall take when all my tasks are done.
Though life has given me a heaping measure
Of all best gifts, and many a cup of pleasure,
Still better things await me further on."

"This little earth is such a merry planet,
The distances beyond it so supreme,
I have no doubt that all the mighty spaces
Between us and the stars are filled with faces
More beautiful than any artist's dream.

"I like to think that I shall yet behold them,
When from this waiting-room my soul has soared.
Earth is a wayside station, where we wander,
Until from out the silent darkness yonder
Death swings his lantern and cries, 'All aboard.'

"I think death's train sweeps through the solar system
And passes suns and moons that dwarf our own,
And close beside us we shall find our dearest,
The spirit friends on earth we held the nearest,
And in the shining distance God's great throne."

REV. RICHARD G. JAMES.

BY W. G. BOGGS.

RICHARD GREGORY JAMES was born in Chesterfield county, Virginia, December 31, 1861. He was the son of John Wesley and Margaret Elizabeth James, a devout couple, who feared God with all their house.

His paternal grandfather was Rev. Garland James, a local preacher, while an uncle, Rev. Marcellus James, was for a time a member of the Virginia Conference.

With godly forbears, the boy early turned his feet toward the testimonies of the Lord, and from the time of his conversion there was a marked consecration of his whole being to the service of God. When scarcely more than a lad he was active in the Sunday School and took part in the neighborhood prayer-meetings. All the time he felt that God was leading him to give his life to some distinctive religious work; and so when he had reached his twenty-third year he felt a definite call to the ministry and began preparation for this high calling. In the fall of 1892 he was received on trial into the Virginia Conference.

We have had men of more conspicuous abilities; we have hardly had one of deeper piety nor of fuller consecration. He was a good preacher, clear, thoughtful, orthodox; but the greatest power for good in his ministry was in a life "hid with Christ in God." His character was so transparent that all who saw might read. No sinister motive was there, no pretense, no sham. He loved the truth, and nothing that smacked of falsehood could find place in his life.

He accepted the itinerancy literally. He never sought nor shunned a place. Quiet and modest, he accepted without question the assignment of the Bishop, and went to his charge believing that God ruled in this, as in all else that concerned him.

He was never physically robust, and several severe attacks of illness threatened his life. Once after weary months of suffering in a hospital, it was feared he was permanently disabled; and indeed for several years he was unable to take an appointment. But his health improving, he came again into his loved employ, and prosecuted the work with fidelity and success. For him to see a need in the work was a call to meet that need. His personal convenience had nothing to do with it. While on the King George Circuit he saw that our people at Colonial Beach were without a pastor. The town was twenty miles from the parsonage. The roads in winter were extremely difficult, but he never hesitated. Through heat and cold he ministered to the little flock there, and was largely instrumental in developing the present flourishing station. He always did good, steady, faithful work, and every charge he served improved under his care.

Gentle, refined, courteous, he made friends wherever he went. No coarse nor vulgar utterance fell from his lips, nor was there conduct seen in him that was unbecoming in a Christian. A cultured minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church once said to the writer that Brother James was as fine a character as he had ever seen in the pastorate, and that he felt that a visit from him was a blessing to his home.

Early in his ministry he was happily married to Miss Lilly Sale, of Ashland, Virginia. This devoted wife entered into his work with perfect sympathy, and much of our brother's success was due to her entire adaptability to the often trying position of the itinerant's wife. God blessed their union with six bright, interesting children. These are all living with their mother in Gordonsville.

The end of his earthly career came to him while pastor of Gordonsville circuit. A severe attack of neuritis was followed by a painful and unyielding heart affection, and although the best medical skill was employed, he lingered but a few days, when his pure spirit went to be with God forever. There was no fear when he approached the end. He knew "Whom he had believed." He had pointed others to this same Source of life and strength, and he knew his Lord would not fail him. His end was peace.

In the quiet churchyard in Chesterfield, where lie the earthly remains of many of his kindred, they laid his body. Rev. W. F. Hayes was there to say the last solemn words. They made a new mound, and upon it lovingly placed beautiful flowers. But he was not there, for God had taken him.

APPENDIX III.—REPORTS.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

REPORT NO. 1.

We have carefully considered the paper introduced by J. W. Gee and others and referred to us by the Conference, in regard to the Conference Secretary of Missions, and beg leave to report: That it is the unanimous and positive opinion of the Mission Board of the Virginia Conference that the time has not come when we can dispense with the services and leadership of a Missionary Secretary in the Virginia Conference. For this finding of your Board of Missions we submit the following facts:

1. Full payment of, and steady growth of, appropriations to the brethren on the mission charges, from $5,945.00 in 1907 to $8,025.06 in 1914.

2. Keeping pace with the growth of our missionary income under the leadership of the Conference Missionary Secretary, as has the growth of other benevolences such as the Superannuate Fund, which has never known any scaling during the past seven years.

3. The expense of our Missionary Secretary has never been a burden on your Conference Mission Board, but has been borne nearly entirely by the General Board of Missions, and we have just heard information that the General Board of Missions is well pleased with their contract, and would consider a change in our plans a great blow to the missionary movement throughout our entire Church.

4. The period of the past seven years, during which we have had a Conference Missionary Secretary, has been marked by a steady and remarkable increase of missionary gifts throughout the bounds of our work, growing from $74,868.00 to $165,000.00 in 1914.

5. During this period of seven years in which we have had an efficient Missionary Secretary, the Reserve Fund has so increased that we are taking care of the fifty per cent. of the appropriation to the men on the mission charges, and, if left undisturbed in our plans, in a few years we will be able to pay seventy-five per cent. of these claims during the Conference year.

6. Under the leadership of a Missionary Secretary we have been brought into vital touch with the needs of Korea, the Hermit Nation, and the Virginia Conference is gladly and enthusiastically caring for the missionary enterprise of our whole Church in this nation.

7. The work and gifts of our Conference for missions under our present plans has become an inspiration and example to the entire Southern Methodist Church, and everywhere we are spoken of as the Premier Conference in the missionary enterprise.

8. As a mere business proposition the Missionary Secretary, in our judgment, has justified many fold the wisdom of the office.

9. In the matter of the Laymen's Movement in our Conference, the beneficial results of which have been felt in every district and in every charge of our Conference, the Conference Missionary Secretary has been a great factor.

10. The missionary education and training of our Conference has not reached the point where we can do without a man in the office of Missionary Secretary. When that time comes your Board of Missions will be ready to report no need of the office, and will rejoice with the Conference in such a consummation.

11. We earnestly request the Conference to continue to give the Mission Board their cordial support in our plans, which have brought such magnificent and soul-stirring results during the past seven years.

12. In view of the above facts, and others that might be cited, we confidently recommend the election of a Missionary Secretary by this Conference.

W. B. BEAUCHAMP, Chairman.

W. W. ROYALL, Secretary.

REPORT NO. 2.

In the matter of the petition touching the question of Conference evangelist, presented to the Conference by J. W. Gee and others, and referred by this body to the Board of Missions, we beg leave to report:

1. At the session of this Conference held a year ago a plan was adopted for more aggressive evangelism. This plan urged that every pastor do the work of an evangelist; that every pastor help his brother pastor in at least one revival; that the Presiding Elder and one pastor and one layman constitute the District Evangelistic Committee; that these district committees co-operate with the Conference Committee on Evangelism as recognized in our Discipline.

2. It was urged that a revival be attempted in every charge and church in our Conference.

3. To assist in carrying out our plans, and to visit the District Conferences, to hold institutes, and to help in as many revivals as possible, Brother H. W. Dunkley was appointed Conference Evangelist.

4. In accord with the movement in all of the great evangelistic denominations of our land, we felt as a Conference that the time had come for us again to lay supreme emphasis upon revivals, and with this simple, but we think efficient, organization, and with deep reliance upon the Holy Ghost, the work was undertaken.

5. The key-note of the reports of our Presiding Elders at this Conference has been "revivals" in their districts, and the record when written will in all probability show a larger ingathering through profession of faith than has been the case for many years in the history of our Conference.

6. In view of these results in our Conference this year, and the further need for this work, your Board of Missions feels justified in requesting that at least two men be appointed as evangelists, who shall give their whole time to revival work in the bounds of the Conference, under the direction of the evangelistic committees and the Presiding Elders.

Raised by C. W. Hardwicke, for Methodist Institution.....	$2,000 00

The Board requests Bishop Kilgo to appoint Rev. J. W. Dixon superintendent of the work at the Methodist Institution, Richmond; Rev. Thos. N. Potts, Conference Missionary Secretary, and Rev. H. W. Dunkley as an evangelist of the Conference, and the Board hereby records its appreciation of the splendid work done by the retiring secretary, Rev. R. H. Bennett, and assure him of their brotherly affection and of their prayer that in the great work to which the Church at large has called him he may achieve the highest success.

The Board, with high appreciation of his invaluable services, renominates Brother T. S. Southgate as Conference Lay Leader.

W. W. ROYALL, Secretary.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE LAY LEADER.

As required under recent legislation of the Seventeenth General Conference of our Church, the following report from the Laymen's Missionary Movement for the past Conference year is respectfully submitted:

Your Conference Committee for the State has been actively organized during the year, with the following officers:

CONFERENCE LEADER.

T. S. Southgate.

ASSOCIATE LEADER.

H. E. Barrow.

DISTRICT LEADERS.

Charlottesville.....	W. T. Martin, Charlottesville, Va.

The most important effort of the movement has been to raise the standard and generally improve the knowledge and appreciation of stewardship among the laymen of the church. The individual phases of stewardship upon which the strongest emphasis has been put are three-fold:

1st. For a fuller realization of the layman's duty and responsibility to the great subject of missions, both home and foreign.

2d. For better and a more just basis of ministerial support.

3d. For the introduction and use of a budget system of church finance, designed to include the adoption of the envelope system of weekly offerings and a canvass of every member of the church.

Of the first phase, it may be said that your organization has closely co-operated with the Board of Missions, and in every activity has been guided by said Board or its Missionary Secretary. We have traveled much and presented the cause of missions in some part of almost every district of the Conference whenever called or sent by the Missionary Secretary, Presiding Elders, or pastors.

An accurate statement of missionary statistics has been kept and is herewith embodied in this report, solely for the purpose of bringing them before the Conference in relative concrete form.

TOTAL CONFERENCE RESULTS, HOME AND FOREIGN INCLUDED.

1909.	$ 97,762 12	Per capita $ 99
1910.	115,866 57	Per capita 1 06
1911.	123,584 27	Per capita 1 11
1912.	143,242 34	Per capita 1 18
1913.	165,120 10	Per capita 1 43
1914.	Not yet available.

We have attended most of the missionary institutes and done such other things by correspondence and otherwise as our limited opportunities made possible.

Further, in connection with the second and third items of stewardship,—after an experience of several years and the result of personal contact with almost every charge in the Conference, we are convinced that the desultory and unsystematic method of providing the means necessary for the conduct of the churches, including pastors' support, in a large portion of our rural territory especially, is crippling in the extreme, and to our minds one of the greatest stumbling-blocks in the life and progress of the Church as a whole. In fact, in the solution of this problem, we believe lies the key to many of the difficulties which confront the church today.

In keeping, therefore, with our conviction in this matter, a campaign of presentation, information and urging has been carried on during this year, comprising the issuing of 5,250 pieces of printed matter, including every Official Board in the State, the attendance upon the majority of District Conferences and personal appeals from and through the individual church for the adoption of the Budget System, which simply means the ascertaining at the First Quarterly Conference the total needs of the Church for the year, and immediately thereafter arranging for an "every member canvass," introducing the Scriptural basis of weekly giving through the use of the envelope system.

We endorse and commend the Duplex System in theory, and possibly in practice for some of the more advanced city churches, but not for the rural church at this time, but rather instead the single envelope for all needs, including pastor's support, and then a special thank-offering later in the year expressly for missions.

Thanks to the hearty and cordial support to all our efforts and plans by the majority of Presiding Elders, much progress on this line has been made, even to the extent that one or two districts have been led to adopt the plan as completely outlined by forms and printed explanations which have been previously issued, and it is confidently expected that more than half of the Conference charges will do so, beginning with the First Quarterly Conference of the new year. May we not plead for and even expect the hearty co-operation of the remaining Elders when holding their First Quarterly Conferences prior to January 1, 1915?

In conclusion, we await with interest the action of your body on the general Conference recommendations for the creation of a standing Board of Lay Activities, and, if appointed, will endeavor to be ready to take up the larger and broader duties intended to be covered by it.

We recommend and urge an increase in our present missionary assessment at once. We plead for the continuance of the office of Conference Missionary Secretary, and would regard a backward step in this direction as a calamity at this crucial time and until our free-will offerings for missions equal an assured amount of $2.00 or more per member.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. S. SOUTHGATE, Conference Lay Leader.

BOARD OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Board of Church Extension of the Virginia Annual Conference respectfully submits the following report:

We are pleased with the evidence of increased interest in the improvement of our church and parsonage property. Both our congregations and our pastors should be comfortably cared for. While we had a small increase in the amount raised for this Board, we regret that we did not have money enough to meet all demands made upon us. We received and considered eighteen applications from churches asking that we donate to them $5,910.00. There were four applications from parsonages asking aid to the amount of $1,850.00.

The Board made the following donations:

Total	$500 00

The assessment put upon this Conference by the General Board for the ensuing year is $17,220.00. The fact that this is the largest assessment placed by the General Board on any Conference in our Church is an evidence that they have great faith in us and expect great things of us.

Our Loan Fund is growing. We now have $8,261.84 in that fund. Of this amount $5,865.73 is loaned out, leaving $2,396.11 subject to loan.

We have granted loans during this session as follows:

Kenbridge Church, Kenbridge Circuit, Farmville District.....	$1,500 00
Victoria Parsonage, Victoria Charge, Farmville District.....	1,200 00

Total	$2,700 00

This is a very important fund. While the Church at large is trying to get a Million-Dollar Loan Fund, we need in our Conference at least $100,000.00.

By referring to the new Discipline, Paragraphs 397 and 399, Articles XI and XIII, you will see the provision made by the General Conference for establishing both City and District Boards of Church Extension. Wherever it is practicable we request that these Boards be formed. As it appears that mistakes are often made in selecting the location of our churches, we would respectfully suggest that that duty of these Boards be especially stressed.

A lawyer's abstract of title should accompany all applications. It is also essential that these applications be in the hands of the Secretary not later than November 1st.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT.

The statistical report shows that our schools are making steady progress. Some of them are full to overflowing. The Woman's College and Blackstone Institute cannot furnish rooms to all those who apply for entrance, and the Academy at Bedford is building another wing to the dormitory in order to give accommodations to the increasing number of students. Randolph-Macon College has more students than last year, and with the new dormitory, completed since the opening of the session, it is in position properly to house all her students, which it has not been able to do for several years.

Besides the signs of progress stated above, it will be noted that the Board of Education has endorsed the plan of the trustees of the Blackstone Female Institute to convert the Institute into a Junior College, thus furnishing a number of girls who now are unable to get any college education at all an opportunity of taking the first two years of a college course. It is to be hoped that the friends of the Institute will contribute the money necessary to make the Junior College as great a success as the Institute has been. This may seem not a good time to raise money for church purposes, but a former member of this Conference used to say that a long experience had shown that there is no better time to get people to give to good causes than the periods of depression when the tide of a mere material success is running low.

The educational problems of our Church are receiving earnest attention from those to whom they are entrusted. One of the greatest of these is the proper training of men who enter the ministry. The trustees of Randolph-Macon College have taken a forward step in this matter, by securing the return to the College of Dr. John A. Kern, who offers a full year's work to ministerial students beyond what the College has been offering in the past. These courses are on the general subject of "Christian Institutions and Service," and are "The Church and Its Work," "Christian Ethics and the Psychology of Religion," "Homiletics and the Ministerial Life," and "New Testament Exegesis and History of Preaching." They will be invaluable to those of our ministerial students who cannot take a complete theological training. Doctor Kern will be a tower of strength to the work of the College.

The statistics before you show the great opportunity of Virginia Methodism in the educational field: seventeen hundred students in our schools. Will our people appreciate this opportunity and make it possible for our Boards of Trustees to meet the great responsibilities that the situation imposes on them? Most certainly they will ultimately; and in the fullness of time our educational institutions will be given the large endowments that are necessary to make them the power in the Church which they can become; but first the leaders and counsellors of our people must fully realize that our schools are an essential and integral part of the equipment of our Church for its great work of bringing in the Kingdom of God.

R. E. BLACKWELL, President.

RESOLUTIONS AND STATISTICS.

Your Board of Education presents the following resolutions to the Conference for adoption:

1. Resolved, That the Joint Board of Finance be and is hereby instructed to apportion $5,453.00 to meet the assessment for education laid by the General Conference, and $12,000.00 for the benefit of Randolph-Macon College, the amount collected to be divided pro rata.

2. Whereas, Since 1906 the Annual Conference Board of Education has had no revenue, and

Whereas, There are expenses of various kinds incurred in carrying on the necessary work of the Board, and these expenses have for the past eight years been met by the Secretary of the Board without any reimbursement therefor,

Resolved, That the Annual Conference hereby instructs the Treasurer of the Annual Conference Expense Fund to pay out of said fund such necessary expenses as may be incurred by the Conference Board of Education, said expenses to be paid upon the order of the President and Secretary of the Board of Education, provided that the amount so paid shall not exceed $100.00 in any Conference year.

3. The Virginia Annual Conference hereby requests the General Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to appropriate at least $1,000.00 to assist in carrying on the work of the Ferrum Training School.

4. The Board of Education hereby nominates James Cannon, Jr., for appointment by the Presiding Bishop as Conference Secretary of Education for the ensuing four years.

5. Resolved, That we rejoice in the prosperity of the schools and colleges belonging to our Church within the bounds of our Conference. We commend the Boards of Trustees of our educational institutions for their loyalty to the Church, and for their progressive spirit which is seen in their administration of the trust committed to their care by the Methodist people.

We note with pleasure that in response to the request of the Annual Conference the Board of Trustees of Randolph-Macon College is developing and strengthening the courses of instruction offered by the College for students preparing for the ministry, and we extend a most cordial welcome to Dr. John A. Kern upon his return as a professor of Randolph-Macon College.

We congratulate Randolph-Macon College upon the completion of the second Branch Dormitory. We extend the thanks of the Conference to Bro. John P. Branch for this additional evidence of his love for the College, shown by the building of these two dormitories, which furnish accommodations for our students equal in comfort and convenience to any dormitories in the country.

We are glad to report that additional improvements are to be made both at the Randolph-Macon Woman's College and at the Randolph-Macon Academy.

The purpose of the Trustees of the Blackstone Female Institute to develop that institution into a Junior College for girls is heartily approved by this body. This action will meet the needs of our people. We therefore commend to the liberality of the friends of Christian education the effort which will be made by the Blackstone Board of Trustees to raise $50,000.00 for this purpose.

We urge all of our people to send their sons and daughters to our Conference schools and colleges. No institutions in our country have a higher standing for thorough and conscientious work, and with a Conference thoroughly united in their support they are now entering upon a period of greater usefulness than ever before.

6. Resolved, That we commend to our preachers, teachers, and Christian workers the courses of instruction which are conducted by the Department of Ministerial Supply and Training of the General Board of Education, as ordered by the recent General Conference. We commend especially to our under-graduates the opportunities afforded for instruction in the regular Conference course of study. We congratulate the Church at large that the General Board of Education has elected Dr. R. H. Bennett, of this Conference, to be the director of this department of our Church work.

7. Resolved, That we have heard with interest the statement sent to the Conference by the Educational Commission created by the last General Conference. We are gratified to learn that such a large sum of money has been given for the establishment of the Theological Seminary at Atlanta, and that the Seminary has opened with such favorable prospects. We assure the Educational Commission of the support of the Virginia Conference in its effort to develop a great Seminary equal to the needs of our great Church.

8. Resolved, That we hereby request the Presiding Bishop to appoint E. H. Rowe, principal of the Southern Seminary, Buena Vista, Va.; S. C.

Hatcher, vice-president and secretary and treasurer of Randolph-Macon College; James Cannon, Jr., principal of Blackstone Female Institute, and general superintendent of the Southern Assembly; Granville Burruss, principal of Bowling Green High School; W. J. Young and W. A. Smart, professors in the Theological Seminary at Atlanta; J. W. Fizer, O. L. Gilliam, and R. R. Burnett, students at the same institution; B. M. Beckham, principal of Ferrum Training School; and W. R. Proctor, special representative of Ferrum Training School.

FERRUM TRAINING SCHOOL.

Dear Brethren,—Since my appointment as Principal of the Ferrum Training School one year ago, I have travelled by public and private conveyance about twenty thousand miles, have sent out about 1,600 pieces of mail, have supplied 200 columns of matter to the secular and religious press, have visited nearly one hundred of the 826 churches in the Conference, have taken subscriptions in most places where I have gone, have spoken usually twice and frequently three times on Sunday and as often during the week as I have had opportunity, have canvassed in the mountainous sections of the State for students, and have organized the work at Ferrum and started the school with encouraging prospects. We opened with one hundred and ten pupils, but did not have sufficient classroom or teaching force for so many, and were compelled to reduce the number of our students to about seventy, which is the number we have at present. Of these thirty-two are boarders, nineteen girls and thirteen boys. By crowding three into every room we have, it will be possible for us to take four girls and two boys in addition to those we have, and there are as many as this who have declared their purpose to come in the near future. It is practically certain that every inch of space we have will be taken before Christmas.

We charge only one hundred dollars for board and tuition, but there were so many that wanted to come who were unable to pay this amount that I solicited scholarships through the Advocate, and was very fortunate in securing nine in a very short while. These scholarships pay one hundred dollars each, but by means of dividing two of them we are enabling eleven students to come to school who could not have done so otherwise. I have four letters from young women, begging me to let them come and cook for the school as a means of paying their board and tuition. One of our boys is working his way through school by looking after the heating and lighting plant, and a number of others have written and asked to be permitted to work their way through, as have also a much larger number of girls.

From the best information I can gather there has been subscribed something over nine thousand dollars to this work by the various churches of the Conference this year. There will, of course, be some falling-off in the amount collected, and we cannot tell definitely what the Conference will do until the reports are all in and tabulated. In addition to this the Woman's Missionary Society turned over to our treasurer this year nearly four thousand dollars, this being the total amount raised by our godly women for this cause up to that time. Since then, however, they have raised about $1,100 for the furnishing of the building, and will provide practically all that is needed for that purpose.

The trustees met early in the year, organized, and appointed committees, and have erected a most excellent building of concrete and brick. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity, and has bath-rooms and every modern convenience, with water from a mountain spring. The supply, however, was inadequate, and a well is now being bored, from which we will no doubt derive an abundant supply of excellent water.

The future is full of hope and promise. I really believe that the measure of our usefulness to the poor but noble-hearted girls and boys of the mountains of our State will be determined entirely by our capacity for taking care of and instructing them.

If we had room we could easily quadruple our numbers another year. We find it much more difficult, too, to carry on our work with girls and boys both in the same building, and many additional burdens and responsibilities are entailed upon our teachers on this account, and they are subjected to a strain of anxiety that should not be put upon them. Our classrooms are entirely too small, and we have as many as forty-five in one class-room with only twenty-eight desks. We provided three music-rooms, but had to put three boys into every one of them, and take the parlor for a music-room, and fifteen music pupils take their lessons and practice in this one room. We provided a room for Domestic Science, but had to put a partition in it, and use it for rooms for boys, of whom there are three in one side, and there will soon be three in the other. Our Domestic Science teacher is teaching in the grammar grades, and has not been able for lack of time and of room to do any work whatever in her special line.

We have no auditorium, and have to hold all our assemblies in the hall, moving desks and chairs on each occasion.

We need not less than $12,000.00 the coming year with which to pay our indebtedness, and if possible complete the building we already have, or erect another, as may be deemed best.

It will be possible to provide for the support of the work for the present without making an assessment on the Conference for that purpose. At my request the Woman's Missionary Society will endeavor to raise $1,500.00 the coming year to pay the salaries of the teachers. We have the promise of $1,000.00 from the General Board of Education, and the remainder, if there be any, can be taken out of the general funds; but we trust that this will be sufficient, together with the income from students and from the farm, to pay expenses.

The history of the School thus far has convinced me that the selection of Ferrum as a location was eminently wise. If we had expected to do only a local work, we would have gone to a more remote and more destitute community far from a railroad; but our desire is to reach out in many directions, and into many communities, and Ferrum is a most central and convenient point. The immediate and enthusiastic response to our call for students has also convinced me that there is a great need and a great demand for just such work as we set out to do. The field is unlimited, and the good that we can do will be measured entirely by our faith and our willingness to respond to the call of God.

Faithfully yours,

B. M. BECKHAM, Principal.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOARD.

REPORT NO. 1.

Your Sunday-school Board reports that it considered the resolution referred to it on yesterday, and recommends the discontinuance of the office of Field Secretary for the year 1914-'15.

W. A. COOPER, Chairman.

W. T. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

REPORT NO. 2.

The Sunday-school is the great teaching service of the Church. "It is the Church studying and making known the word of God." It is not necessary, however, to discuss the meaning of the Sunday-school in this presence, but to mention some points now especially before the Church.

The General Sunday-school Board has divided the territory of the Church into seven districts.

The Atlantic Division includes the Baltimore, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Western North Carolina, South Carolina, North Georgia and South Georgia Conferences, and is under the Superintendency of Mr. John M. Way. It is hoped that by this arrangement the cause can be better served.

For the last seven months Rev. T. Maynard DeShazo has been in the field as Secretary of the Virginia Conference Board. He reports that he attended nine District Conferences, held twenty-three Institutes, thereby reaching one hundred and sixty schools, reorganizing about a score of them. He also reports the organization of twenty new Cradle-Rolls, twelve new Home Departments, thirty-five new Wesley Bible Classes. He emphasized the work and sowed down the territory of the Conference with Sunday-School literature. The Board appreciates his services.

The Chair of Religious Pedagogy to be established in the University at Atlanta, Ga., is of great significance to the Church. The sum of $50,000.00 has been already raised for this purpose, and not many years hence the Church should begin to feel a new quickening under the stimulus and inspiration of those who go forth with adequate equipment for their task.

It is highly important that the schools should be brought up to the standard of efficiency of the Church, and that the organized Teacher Training and Wesley Bible Classes should be reported promptly to their respective departments for enrollment at Nashville.

The Birth-day jars furnished by the Church Extension Board in the interest of that work should be mentioned and their use insisted upon. Any school will be supplied with them free of charge.

The Sunday-School literature of the Church is most excellent and worthy of the highest commendation. It is furnished by the Publishing House at Richmond, Va., where prompt attention is given to orders.

The Missionary interest of the School should never be overlooked. It should be stressed here if nowhere else in the work of the Church, in order to impress its importance upon the coming generations.

The Board is earnestly requesting the Presiding Elders to give at least one round to the Sunday-School interest, holding Institutes wherever practicable.

W. T. WILLIAMS,
Secretary.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

The prospect for the growth of the League in the Virginia Conference is brighter today than it has been for many years. The work done last year by Rev. J. M. Culbreth, assistant secretary of the General Board, together with the chairman of the Conference Board, in visiting Leagues and organizing City Unions, has borne good fruit. The Richmond Union has done a very fine work this year, and under its auspices the Leagues have grown from seven to fourteen in Richmond, making that city quite a League city. This Union made possible a State Conference held this year at Clay Street Church, Richmond, October 15-18.

At this Conference a State Epworth League Board was organized with president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and secretaries to be appointed in each Presiding Elder's district.

This State Conference was financed and delightfully entertained by the Richmond Union. While not large, the Conference was a great success, and marked by a deep spiritual tone. The delegates were much in earnest, and believe in the success of the League.

The next State Conference will meet in Newport News in June, 1915. We urge the pastors in all the charges, whether they have Leagues in their churches or not, to begin early and secure at least one delegate to this Conference, which will mean much to the young life of our Church.

JAMES H. MOSS, Chairman.

BIBLE SOCIETY BOARD.

It is gratifying to learn from the report of the work of the American Bible Society, that the past year has been the most successful in its history, as regards the distribution of the Scriptures, notwithstanding the difficulties encountered. More than 5,000,000 copies of all kinds were distributed—2,377,390 at home, and 2,923,786 abroad. The largest distribution has been in the great Republic of China, amounting to nearly a million and a quarter volumes.

The war in Europe, by crippling the Bible agencies in the countries involved, has greatly increased the demands upon the American Bible Society. The Christian Tract Society in Germany sent the following cablegram to the American Bible Society: "For charity work among soldiers we need urgently German, Russian, French and Polish Testaments, parts of Bibles, and money. Help, for Christ's sake." Similar appeals have come from France and Austria. The Societies in the countries involved in the war must depend for assistance upon the American Bible Society in this time of dire need.

The budget made before the war began was based upon the heavy loss in the income of the Society, due chiefly to the falling off in legacies during the past year, which necessitated a reduction in the appropriations to all the Agencies. For China alone the reduction amounted to $17,000. Since the war commenced, and the demands became more urgent, the Society fears the necessity of a further retrenchment, owing to the commercial depression in this country, unless there be a special and speedy response in contributions to this work.

Your Board submits the following for the action of the Conference:

Whereas, The General Conference of 1914, in view of "the pitiful inadequacy of the present resources of the Society to meet the enlarged demands coming in from the mission fields, both at home and abroad," recommended for the American Bible Society an assessment which, if laid upon the churches and made effective, would greatly increase our gifts to this important work; therefore be it

1. Resolved, That this Conference heartily endorses said action of the General Conference calling for this increase in contributions for the Bible Society, and would urge upon all pastors and charges, that the contemplated increase in gifts to the Bible Society be made the standard of giving to this work.

2. Resolved, That the Conference commends those pastors and charges who, by their efforts in behalf of this cause, have secured liberal gifts to the Society, and urges every pastor and charge to give serious consideration to the claims of the Society, and that the collections for this work be taken as early in the year as practicable; and the amounts raised be forwarded to the Conference treasurer, who is requested to forward the same to the treasurer of the American Bible Society, in New York.

PUBLISHING INTERESTS.

The report of Messrs. Smith & Lamar, Publishing Agents of the Church, contains some encouraging and stimulating data:

FINANCIAL EXHIBIT.

We note that there has been substantial growth in the business of the Publishing House at Nashville, and its branches at Dallas and Richmond. The entire net increase in profits for the year ending February 28, 1914, was $110,978.14, showing an increase over the previous fiscal year of $13,589.43. Of this great sum of profits, $110,978.14, the Richmond branch reports $15,248.98, a larger sum than the Dallas branch and a fair proportion of the entire volume of profits from the Publishing House.

PERIODICALS.

We note with pleasure that the Sunday-school periodicals are enjoying a constantly increasing and well deserved circulation. The Christian Advocate goes to 16,500 subscribers, a number far below its real merits, and far below what a well-directed canvass would probably achieve. While we recognize the practical difficulty of increasing the circulation of our General organ in the same territory covered by various Conference organs, we will endeavor to improve our opportunities to introduce it into our homes.

The Methodist Review covers in a most able and satisfactory manner a separate field from the weekly periodicals of the Church, and deserves a much larger circulation than the present 4,200 subscribers.

The Epworth Era has a circulation of 16,000 copies, and during the year has met the cost of publication.

The Publishing House has issued many useful and valuable books that are worthy of a place in the homes of our people.

The committee deplores the increased cost of the Discipline, and is of the opinion that it should be sold at such price as would facilitate its introduction into all our Methodist homes, as the great compendium of Methodist doctrine and economy.

THE CONFERENCE ANNUAL.

We commend the promptness with which Doctor Whitley, the Editor, issued the last number of the CONFERENCE ANNUAL. We recommend his reappointment to that position, and request the Joint Board of Finance to appropriate $100 as usual for his service. In view of the fact that the entire edition of last year was exhausted, we recommend the publication of 3,200 copies for the coming year.

BALTIMORE AND RICHMOND CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

The publication of a Conference organ for a single Conference is always attended by many practical difficulties of expense and maintenance. These difficulties natural to the situation are accentuated when the paper is privately owned and conducted. However ably edited, or with whatever fidelity to the interests of the Conference it may be conducted, it is difficult to enlist the enthusiastic support of the entire body to the enterprise. It has been difficult to make the paper pay the cost of maintenance and publication in the past. Nevertheless, of such great value is a paper to our Conference that any abatement of interest or support can but be detrimental to the interest of the body. It is the sense of your Committee that the interests of all concerned would be best served by Conference ownership, if it be found on mature consideration to be practicable. We, therefore, recommend that a committee be appointed, on nomination of the Committee on Publishing Interests, to confer with the present owners of the Baltimore and Richmond Christian Advocate, to consider carefully the practicability of the purchase and conduct of the Conference organ by the Conference, and report to this body its findings and conclusions for action at its next session.

Meanwhile, we commend most heartily the editorial attitude and work of the Advocate on the great questions of Temperance, Missions, Education, Sunday-schools, and all the enterprises of the Church. We put on record our sense of obligation to the paper as pastors and people, for the help and inspiration it has given us in our work throughout the year. We recommend the continuation of the paper as our accredited organ, that we give to it our earnest support, and undertake to increase its circulation among us. We also recommend the appointment of Rev. James Cannon, Jr., as Editor of the Advocate, and Rev. G. H. Lambeth, as Associate Editor.

THOS. E. JOHNSON, Chairman.

J. H. LIGHT, Secretary.

THE CONFERENCE ORGAN.

TO THE VIRGINIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Dear Brethren: At the close of ten years of labor in connection with the Baltimore and Richmond Christian Advocate, the following statement is presented to the body by the Editor of the paper:

Ten years ago J. S. Peters and James Cannon, Jr., purchased three-fourths of the stock of the Advocate Publishing Company, and within two or three years afterward they purchased the rest of the stock. Three years ago the undersigned purchased the stock owned by J. S. Peters, and at present owns all the stock except two shares held by other persons to meet the requirements of the law.

At the time of the purchase of the controlling interest, in 1904, the new management declared that the Advocate would stand editorially for every interest of the Church, and that its columns would be open to all those who officially or individually had a message for the readers of the paper. It was also stated in the opening number that it would be the policy of the editors to emphasize the three great causes of Missions, Education and Temperance.

An examination of the files of the paper will show that the pledges made in 1904 have been fulfilled. There has been no partiality or partisanship in the conduct of the paper. No article has been denied publication on any disputed question because the writer disagreed with the views of the editors. Every interest of the Church has been given space to present its claims to the readers of the Advocate. The Mission Board, the Rosebuds, the Woman's Missionary Societies, the Sunday-school, the Orphanage, the Epworth League, have all been given such space as the size of the paper would permit.

If an unusual amount of space has been given to Missions, the results have justified that policy. Special contributions and editorials urged upon our people a great forward movement, and in the advance which has been made in our Conference the Advocate rejoices and trusts that it has been a factor in that result. It is interesting to note that the total amount contributed for Foreign and Domestic Missions, including Church Extension in 1904, was $66,530.33. The report of the Board of Missions made a day or so ago declares the total amount now to be $143,177.62.

It was fully realized in 1904 that there was a great ferment in the educational world, and that the issue must be squarely met as to whether the Church should own and control schools and colleges, or whether it should hold merely a sympathetic relation to such institutions. The Advocate has held and has emphasized the conviction that the highest development of our Church is bound up with its ownership and control of strong institutions of learning. The position taken on educational questions subjected the paper to criticism from many good and able men, but the Advocate rejoices that a satisfactory adjustment has been made of the educational questions which agitated our Conference, and that to-day Virginia Methodism possesses a highly developed and exceedingly efficient system of schools and colleges.

The great economic, social and moral issue of prohibition was recognized by the owners of the paper as closely allied to the success and prosperity of the Church of God. The Advocate took its position without hesitation, and for the past ten years the paper has given itself unsparingly to the great conflict for the destruction of the saloon. The Advocate rejoices to-day that it has had some part in the great victory which has been won.

The paper has not been all that its owners have desired it to be, and its work has been done under decided limitations; but the effort has been made to advance the interests of the Kingdom of Heaven to the very utmost of the opportunity afforded, and the result has been left with God.

When the writer decided to return to Blackstone to take up the work of the development of a Junior College for Girls, he realized that he should, if possible, be relieved of the responsibility of the publication of the Advocate, and definitely decided that if State-wide Prohibition prevailed on September 22d, he would state this conviction to the Conference and give to it the opportunity to express its wishes concerning the future of the paper.

For twenty years the writer has advocated the policy of the ownership and control by the Church of all its educational agencies, including newspapers as well as schools and colleges. More than once on the Conference floor he has stood for that principle in reference to the Advocate, both before and after his connection with the paper began. He believes now that the wise policy is Conference ownership of the Advocate. The paper might very properly be held for the Conference either by the Orphanage Board or by the Joint Board of Finance, and the editor should be elected by the Conference upon the nomination of a committee or board, and should be paid a fixed salary. All the surplus over expenses should go into the treasury either of the Orphanage Board for the maintenance of the Orphanage, or into the treasury of the Joint Board of Finance for the support of Conference claimants, or it might be divided between the two boards. Were the paper linked to either or to both of these great benevolences, its appeal to pastors and to people and to advertisers also would be much more effective than the appeal can ever be while the paper is owned by individuals. For whether the individuals owning the paper are making or losing money, there is frequently a sentiment that the work done for the Advocate is work done for private parties, and the sense of responsibility for the success of the paper is greatly lessened, if not entirely destroyed.

And this brings us to the very core of the matter. The Advocate has in it far greater possibilities for the advancement of the Kingdom of God than can be developed under private ownership. It has to-day great influence, and is a leading factor in all the work of the Church. It is the voice by which every cause speaks to the Church. If we can only devise a plan by which our pastors and laymen will press the circulation of the paper and put it into every Methodist home in every charge within the bounds of the Conference, its influence will be multiplied many fold, and every interest of the Church will be advanced by the dissemination of information and the consequent stimulus which will result from its visits. The writer is fully convinced that the ownership of the paper by the Conference promises the best possible results for the Church, and therefore he has decided to state to the Conference his desire to lighten his work and to retire from the ownership of the Advocate, and the responsibility involved in its publication, so that the Conference may be given the opportunity to take direct control of the paper if it shall so desire.

The writer has stated the substance of the above to the Committee on Publishing Interests, and he understands that the committee will suggest in its report the appointment of a committee to consider the question of the future relation of the paper to the Conference. Should such a committee be appointed, the writer will gladly co-operate with it, to give it full information concerning the condition of the paper, and to assist in any way possible to arrive at a decision which will be for the best interest of the Church.

Thanking the Conference for the support and co-operation which it has given to the Advocate during the past ten years, and trusting that the paper may have a record of ever-increasing usefulness, the above statement is respectfully submitted for the consideration of the body, in connection with the report of the Committee on Publishing Interests.

JAMES CANNON, JR.,
Editor Christian Advocate.

TEMPERANCE.

In the mighty struggle of righteousness against unrighteousness we have won a signal victory. As for years we have witnessed with anguished hearts the ravages of intemperance, aided and abetted by the allied liquor traffic, which has strongly intrenched itself in the law of the land, corroding and corrupting every department of government and hindering the Church and every effort for social uplift, the cry of the righteous has gone up, "How long, O Lord, how long?" This cry has been heard, and, though long delayed, the cry has been answered in the defeat of the enemy.

The first great victory was won during the session of the last General Assembly, when, after a protracted and bitterly-fought struggle, the Senate of Virginia was compelled to give to the people of the State the opportunity to express their wishes at the polls concerning the licensed saloon. Only those who were in the thick of that fight can realize how fierce and bitter it was.

Then for six long months, from one end of Virginia to the other, the battle raged. The enemy's weapons were money and misrepresentation. If the voters of Virginia could have been bought, or could have been deceived, prohibition would have been overwhelmingly defeated; for never in the history of the Commonwealth in any election was so much money expended, or so many misrepresentations published as in this election. But all the efforts of the enemy were unavailing. The voters of Virginia could not be bought, and every misrepresentation of the enemy was promptly exposed, so that the people were not deceived; and on the twenty-second of September God gave to the reformers of Virginia the most significant victory of our generation, and, in thankful acknowledgment of His overshadowing providence and deliverance, we record here, first of all, our humble gratitude to Him for His guidance, His mercy, and His power, in this great achievement. There were many providential agents and agencies, but high above all these second causes stands our God, Lord over all, who ordained each and all of these agencies for the accomplishment of His purposes, to whom "be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen."

This victory not only cheered and gladdened the hearts of thousands in Virginia, but carried a message of hope and encouragement to temperance workers throughout the Union, and was largely reflected in the November elections, when the States of Colorado, Arizona, Oregon and Washington threw off the shackles of Rum, and the great State of Ohio, leaving out Cincinnati and Cleveland, cities dominated by alien sentiment, also gave a majority for prohibition. Never before in the history of temperance reform have five great commonwealths lined up under the prohibition banner in one year. As the result of these elections, there will in the future sit in the United States Senate thirty representatives of prohibition States. The movement for national prohibition has been greatly accelerated by the work of the year. The prospect is bright for a saloonless nation in the very near future.

But the time has not yet come to cease from our labors. We realize fully that the victory of September twenty-second in our Commonwealth is only one great battle in our warfare, and that the fruits of that victory will decay unless carefully husbanded. The law itself, to express the sentiment manifested by the sweeping majority, is yet to be made, and that law must be made by its friends and not by its enemies, and it must be so carefully framed as to meet all constitutional requirements, and carry such penalties as will secure its enforcement and make it a terror to evil-doers. And this law, when made, must be executed rigorously, because the failure of the law to suppress the beverage liquor traffic in Virginia will make the prohibition movement in Virginia "a by-word and a hissing" throughout the nation; and while Virginia may have been chronologically late in adopting the prohibition law, we propose that Virginia shall be first in the perfection and execution of its prohibitory law and an example to the nation.

(1) Resolved, That we cordially and thankfully commend the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia for its activities and effectiveness in leading our forces, and that we thoroughly endorse the strenuous campaign of the League, which was provoked by the unscrupulous methods and the unlimited use of money by the enemy; and we rejoice that in such a crisis the Anti-Saloon League was befriended by those who advanced the money, not then in sight, to spread correct information broadcast to the voters of this State both by an array of brilliant speakers and the liberal use of tons of literature. We rejoice to learn that the debt of $24,000.00, thus necessarily incurred, has already been reduced to $19,000.00. That we declare every pulpit in our Conference to be open for the occupancy of the representatives of the League, for the continued agitation of the question of the complete abolition of the liquor traffic, legal or illegal, State-wide or Nation-wide, and for the collection of revenues necessary for the continuation of their (our) work; and in view of the debt still due, necessarily incurred by the League in the prosecution of the work committed to it by the churches of Virginia, we request every church within the bounds of the Virginia Conference to take a public collection on Sunday morning, December thirteenth, or such other Sunday in the month of December as may be most favorable for that purpose. We owe it to ourselves, as well as to the men who have advanced the money, that this debt shall be promptly paid.

(2) Resolved, That we warn our people against the studied attempts of the newspapers which so bitterly opposed us in the State-wide election to lull the public into a false security, in which apathetic condition the liquor people hope to secure a Legislature sufficiently under their control to nullify the results of the State-wide election by the passage of a law lacking in effective law-enforcement features. These papers have been our enemies in the past. They still declare that the prohibition law is a bad law, and they will continue to be our enemies in the future. When the General Assembly meets and the final draft of the liquor law is being prepared, whenever any issue arises between the liquor lobby and the prohibition workers, these papers will be found on the side of the liquor lobby doing everything possible to prevent the passage of a prohibition law that will be really effective.

(3) Resolved, That we most heartily commend the great work of the women of our State in bringing to pass the recent victory. Under the leadership of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Woman's Prohibition League of America, they rendered a splendid service, sending their speakers and circulating their literature throughout the State.

(4) Resolved, That we hereby place on record our high appreciation of the service rendered by all the daily and weekly newspapers that advocated State-wide prohibition. We feel, however, that it would be unjust to fail to make specific mention of the Richmond Virginian for its incomparable leadership and aggressive conduct in this campaign, and this the more so because for nearly five years in its unprecedented aggressiveness for reform, it has sustained throughout all these years a boycott of its advertising columns, involving its owners in an expenditure of $225,000.00 cash to maintain the paper and thus sustain the prohibition issue. We believe that it is vital to the prohibition cause that this great paper be sustained and strengthened, in order that it may continue to lead the forces of righteousness in the Capital city of the State. (Amendment inserted by the Conference.—As a Conference we clearly recognize and hereby express our appreciation of the great and effective service of our Conference organ, the Baltimore and Richmond Christian Advocate, in the tremendous work of redeeming Virginia from the curse of the saloon.)

(5) Resolved, That we commend the directors of the Virginia State Fair Association for abolishing the sale of intoxicants within the limits of the Fair grounds.

(6) Resolved, That we call upon all of our people to exercise great diligence to see to it that in the selection of men for membership in the next General Assembly only men free from alliance with the liquor traffic be elected, in order that the friends, and not the enemies, of temperance reform may make prohibition laws.

(7) Resolved, That we call upon our Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States to support the resolution submitting to the several States the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors throughout the United States.

(8) That we request the Presiding Bishop to appoint James Cannon, Jr., Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, and J. D. McAlister Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Tennessee.

Respectfully submitted,

APPRECIATION OF PROHIBITION LEADERS.

Whereas, A great and notable victory has been recently won by the moral forces of our State over the saloon, after a campaign which, for brilliant leadership coupled with indefatigable labor, is almost without parallel in the history of such campaigns in our country; and

Whereas, That leadership and labor devolved pre-eminently on certain members of the Virginia Conference; therefore,

Resolved, That while we fully appreciate the services of many able and devoted men of other Christian bodies and of our own Conference, we desire to put on record our high estimate of the service to the cause of righteousness and temperance of Rev. James Cannon, Jr., Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, Rev. J. D. McAlister, the General Secretary, and Rev. J. Sidney Peters, State Organizer. This great achievement rests as a crown of glory upon the years of great and consuming service.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE ORPHANAGE.

In accordance with a resolution passed by the last Annual Conference, the following facts and figures covering the work of the Orphanage year from April 1, 1913, to March 31, 1914, were published in the November 5th issue of the Baltimore and Richmond Christian Advocate:

Your Orphanage is in a good condition, and is carrying on the work committed to it in as effective way as possible. During the year we have kept in touch with its affairs, full reports being submitted to us at our monthly meetings.

We present the following summary of the year's work:

Financially we are in good shape, the returns from such churches as could be reached being in excess of last year's. In this connection, we mention with gratitude valuable help rendered us by several members of the Conference, who visited old charges of theirs and presented the Orphanage claims, and especially to Col. R. L. Brewer, Jr., of Suffolk, Va., who made quite a number of trips in our behalf, obtained splendid results, and insisted on bearing his own expenses.

We found it necessary to increase the salaries of the Orphanage workers—in fact, of all of them with one exception; but, in spite of this, and the opening of a sewing-school, with an extra salary for the teacher, our support account will show a balance to our credit as a result of the year's work.

The health of the children is good. Our faithful medical staff continues to grant us gratuitous service whenever required. We have had some measles, two cases of pneumonia, and a few slight cases of diphtheria, in addition to the ordinary ailments of children; but, with renewed gratitude to the Great Physician, we rejoice that we can still report that our remarkable record of "Not a death among the children at the Orphanage since its organization" still holds good.

The children are receiving a training in domestic science, as usual, and are being instructed in all that goes to make good housekeeping.

In our school work the services of three ladies, who carry the children up to the eighth grade; the sewing-school above mentioned, in which every girl receives an hour or more of training every day; the book-keeping, typewriting, and stenography departments, and the piano teacher, keep the children busy, and some good work has been done. Two of our girls, who are at Blackstone Female Institute, will graduate at the close of this session. Two of our girls will be ready for business life before the vacation is over, while four of our children will be ready for high school at the close of the session.

The farm enjoyed its best year yet. A conservative estimate of the value of products raised is $4,099.59, showing a net profit of $1,805.35. Unfortunately an epidemic of hog cholera has played havoc with our "killers" for next season. We are convinced that, under scientific management, the farm can be made a valuable asset, and we have built a house for a scientific farmer to occupy with his family, and are now engaged in seeking for the man who can bring this to pass.

The Guardian, our Orphanage organ, is still quite popular. An edition of 11,200 was exhausted last month, and some new subscribers were forced to wait until this month for a copy. Mr. W. E. Woody, our painstaking editor, takes delight in producing a little better paper every month. The profits on this valuable little monthly—valuable in many ways—amounted last year to $1,121.57, all of which was donated to the Orphanage, as usual.

Religiously the children are being trained in the precepts and principles of the old-time religion. They know by heart much of the Word of God, and sing well the hymns of the Church. The Sunday-school and Rosebud Missionary Society continue in their instructive and helpful way. Some seventy of our children rendered a Christmas cantata at two of our city churches, and won for themselves golden opinions from crowded audiences. We have not held any special services this year as yet. Rev. J. J. Bradford has preached for the children several times at the Orphanage, and some of the boys and girls attend divine services at one of the city churches every Sunday the weather is good. Several of the children have united this year with Park Place Church, and practically all the children who have reached the years of discretion have made profession of religion and joined the church.

We continue to receive large numbers of applications for admission. In this connection we hope to raise ten thousand dollars to cover a conditional gift of another $10,000, which has been generously offered by Mr. J. P. Branch, without solicitation by anyone.

There are now 118 children in the Orphanage and the health of all of them continues good. We feared that the Angel of Death would remove from her home on earth one of our fifteen-year-old girls who lay at death's door for several months, but she has recovered, thanks to Almighty God. The expense attached to her sickness was quite large, but, following our usual custom, we did not allow dollars to stand in the way of anything which might be done from a human standpoint to bring about her recovery.

Our financial returns from such churches as we have been able to visit have been excellent this year, especially good work having been done in this connection by our Special Representative. All of our expenses to date have been paid, including $700.00 for insurance, due this year.

Eighty-six of our children now attend our schools, while two of our girls (owing to the liberality of the Trustees of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, aided by Col. R. L. Brewer and I. N. Vaughan, of our Board, and a lady at Crewe) are enjoying the benefits of an education at that institution. One of our girls is a student at Blackstone Female Institute at the expense of her sister, a trained graduate nurse, who herself received her education and training while under the care of the Orphanage.

The first four graduates of our stenographic, typewriting and bookkeeping department have obtained positions and are self-supporting.

We have engaged the services of a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, who will assume charge of your farm on January 1st, and give some of the boys the benefit of a scientific and practical training in agriculture.

Our industrial and agricultural department has been greatly helped by the generous action of Court-street Church, Lynchburg, whose official board arranged for and successfully carried through a "special" of $1,000.00 for this purpose, apart from the regular and generous yearly donation of this church to our support fund.

Owing to the necessity of guarding our support fund, we have not been able to press a public appeal in the churches for pledges to cover the conditional offer made by Mr. John P. Branch of $10,000.00 for the erection of additional cottages. The high cost of living, the conservatism of the banks, and lately the outbreak of the European war, have all conspired against the closing up of this subscription. We have been fortunate enough, however, to gather up in a quiet way good subscriptions to the amount of $5,320.00, payable when the full amount of $10,000.00 has been pledged.

We have instructed a special committee to continue this quiet canvass, with the hope that the full amount will be obtained quickly.

In the meantime we continue to receive almost daily fresh applications for the admission of destitute children, but, as there are now in the Orphanage nearly 20 per cent. more than we really have comfortable accommodations for, it is, of course, impossible with our present capacity to add to the number.

We present to the Conference for confirmation as Trustee the name of Col. R. L. Brewer, Jr., of Suffolk.

We very much regret that owing to increasing business cares, and the multiplicity of other charitable interests, Capt. John L. Roper and Mr. P. D. Bain have retired from our Board of Trustees.

Our presiding Bishop is respectfully requested to re-appoint Dr. J. W. Bledsoe, Field Agent of the Orphanage; Rev. G. H. McFaden, Special Representative, and A. B. Sharpe, Superintendent.

COMMENDING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Whereas, The Christian Church should be always and everywhere the friend of peace and the upholder of justice and fair dealing among the nations of the world; and

Whereas, National rulers do not at all times subordinate the desire of power and national glory to the demands of magnanimity and generosity; and

Whereas, The President of the United States in his conduct of national affairs, especially with reference to the treatment of the weaker nations, has exhibited a sense of lofty philanthropy and true statesmanship, by meeting with great patience a situation of the most delicate and trying nature arising between this nation and the Republic of Mexico—one that might, save for his wisdom and prudence, have led to a war between the two countries, costing millions of money, sacrificing thousands of lives, and casting a deep shadow upon our relations with all the nations to the south of us; and

Whereas, The course pursued by this truly great, just and patriotic man promises to place our nation in the position of friend and counselor to our sister republics, and a bulwark of justice and good-will among all men; therefore,

1. Resolved, That the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, hereby express its gratitude to God for placing at the head of our nation one so eminently fitted to guide the destinies of our people along the paths of justice, wisdom and true glory.

2. Resolved, That the secretary of this body be instructed to convey to President Woodrow Wilson the congratulations of this body, and to assure him of our highest esteem and approval.

3. Resolved, That we convey to him as a Christian man the assurance of our sincere prayers for his continued guidance by the wisdom of God, in seeking to make our country a blessing to the nations of the earth.

JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.Explanatory Note.

The appropriations to the claimants on the Joint Board of Finance are made according to the following plan:

There are three classes of claimants. Those having no home and no income are put in the first class and receive the highest appropriations, namely, one hundred and fifty dollars each for the preacher and his wife, and thirty-five dollars for each child under seventeen years of age. Those having a home are put in the second class, and one hundred dollars each is given to the preacher and his wife, and thirty-five dollars to each child under seventeen years old. Those having a home and a partial support besides are put in the third class, and seventy-five dollars each is given to the preacher and his wife, and thirty-five dollars to each child under seventeen. In addition, the appropriation is increased according to the following ratio: Those having served forty years or more in the itinerancy shall receive an increase of forty per cent. Those having served not less than thirty years, nor more than forty, shall receive an increase of thirty per cent. Those having served not less than twenty years, nor more than thirty, shall receive an increase of twenty per cent. Those having served not less than ten years, nor more than twenty, shall receive an increase of ten per cent. Those having served less than ten years shall receive the regular appropriation without any increase. This rule is to apply not only to preachers, but also to their wives and widows.

The Board recommends that the assessment for the coming year be fixed at twenty-eight thousand dollars, the same amount as last year; two thousand dollars of this being assessed for the Superannuate Endowment Fund.

B. M. BECKHAM, Chairman.

ABOUT TOURS TO THE Panama-Pacific International Exposition

San Francisco

February 20th to December 4th, 1915

Panama-California Exposition

San Diego

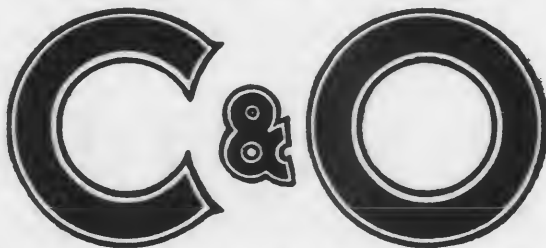

January 1st to December 31st, 1915

The Tourist Department of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company announces the arrangement of a number of personally escorted tours to the above-mentioned California Expositions and Pacific Coast resorts, including Grand Canyon of Arizona, American Rockies, Colorado, Yellowstone Park, Canadian Rockies, Pacific Northwest, and Alaska, with stop-over privileges in principal cities.

Stated tours open to limited number of travelers have been arranged for best selected dates at lowest inclusive rates to be had for first-class service.

Our rates include railroad fare, berth in first-class standard Pullman car (allowing half section to each person), meals in dining car, hotel accommodations, transfer of passenger and checking of baggage to and from hotels, thereby relieving passengers of all trouble and care and assuring our parties the very best of service at minimum cost.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY

First.—Of the great Trunk Lines of the country, the Chesapeake & Ohio far surpasses all others in historical and natural attractions. Nature has lavishly bestowed most striking gifts the whole way. The beauty of the cultivated plain country, the Piedmont Valley, and the bold mountain scenery of Virginia and West Virginia and the New River Canyons, which have no counterpart east of the gorges for which the Rocky Mountain section is famous, make the journey over the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway one to be long remembered.

Second.—You pass the world-wide known White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., all through tickets permitting stop-over at this delightful resort. Through tickets also permit stop-over at Covington, Va., where side trip may be made to the famous Virginia Hot Springs.

Third.—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway is famous for its perfect train service. The trains are fully up-to-date, carrying the best modern equipment, including the latest design of steel Pullman sleepers and Chesapeake & Ohio Dining cars—the latter providing the best of service. Its road-bed is as perfect as first-class engineering can make it. Its grades and curves are less than upon any mountain line of similar extent. The equipment of its through trains is all-steel, vestibuled and electric-lighted. Every modern appliance for safety is in use.

Arrangements will be made for conventions, clubs, societies, and private parties, requiring distinctive service, and itineraries with inclusive rates will be submitted upon application, carefully embodying such features as may be desired, either with or without personal escort.

In purchasing your tickets over the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, you have the option of going via Chicago and returning via St. Louis, or vice-versa. West of Chicago and St. Louis, many variable routes are offered, going via one and returning another.

Bookings are now being made, and we suggest in the interest of prospective patrons that reservations be made as early as possible.
